

The story of

Brianna

USA Today, Wall Street Journal, Amazon Charts and Washington Post best-selling author.

Bri loves reading and writing in two of her favorite genres: psychological thrillers and historical fiction. She got her start in romance with a small publisher and still adores swoon-worthy meet-cutes. You can find that strong sense of relationship-building in all of Bri's work.

She has published more than a dozen novels in her career and isn't slowing down anytime soon.

She spent the first decade-plus-change of her career in D.C. journalism and thus knows too much about the Ways & Means Committee as well as the best way to avoid traffic on the Beltway. She now lives in Pennsylvania with her pup, Jinx.

Her last name is pronounced La-bus-kiss (it's okay, no one gets it right!)

Come Say Hi! →

Get all the latest news and info sent to your inbox.

Email address